The Raleigh Daily News.
SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1872.
Special Notices inserted in the Local Column will be charged Fifteen Cents per line.
All parties ordering the News will please send the money for the time the paper is wanted.
LOCAL MATTER.
E. C. WOODSON, City Editor
LOCAL BRIEFS.
Go to church to-day.
Do not fail to Register.
The Weldon Fair closed on yesterday.
Several more weddings are on the tapis.
Dark, gloomy and cloudy—all day yesterday.
The County Commissioners will meet on Wednesday.
Do not fail to go and register tomorrow, if you have not done so.
The city was remarkably quiet yesterday. No Mayor's Court, nor even a single police arrest.
Notwithstanding the gloomy weather, trade was quite brisk with our merchants yesterday.
The downward tendency in cotton casts a gloom over the business community—but cheer up, it can't last.
Attention is directed to the sale of houses and lots advertised by Judge J.
N. Bunting. Call early to secure a bargain.
TEMPERANCE.
"We are a living witness of the fact that Fray's living beer has increased the weight of a gentleman in this city 32 pounds in six months."
and smile for him to-night while indulging in the usual "good night draught."
"We are indebted to our friend J. T. Harrison, wholesale and retail liquor dealer, Wilmington street, for three bottles of the Scotch ale, a large lot of which he has just received."
The above extracts were taken from three numbers of one of our daily papers, and are specimens of what are seen in all the dailies of this city almost every morning. There is hardly a day that passes that "Miller & Nelson's" superb wines, or "Frays' healthy lager beer," or "Potter's splendid liquors," or some other puff for dram shops does not appear in the local columns. These papers go into the family circle and are read by hundreds of young men whose appetites are being formed. Yea, and the heart-broken wife whose husband has not drawn a sober breath for months, and who hesitates not to disregard the vows made at the nuptial altar, reads them.
The above extract was taken from the "Spirit of the Age," a "a little temperance paper," published in this city, now in its sixth number. The article is continued to the length of three quarters of a column, and its heading in black and roman caps, sensationally displayed as follows:
SHOCKING PUTTS OF DRAM SHOPS.
HOW OUR LOCAL EDITORS ARE DOING MORE DAMAGE THAN ALL THE RUM-MILLS IN RALEIGH.
THEIR COURSE CALCULATED TO DELUDE AND RUIN HUNDREDS OF OUR BEST MEN AND BOYS.
Our defense can be summed up in a very few words; we could say that as local editor of the Daily News our columns are written up with an eye to the general interests of the community, and not for the benefit of a few reform drunkards and Temperance fanatics, but as the proprietors of that Journal, its talented editor, and possibly the author of the article alluded to, we will not come under this head, we will not use it in a special, but we do in a general sense.
The local columns of the Daily News have never failed in a single instance to mention any notice that was favorable to the perpetuation of the Temperance Societies of this city. We are an advocate of the Temperance cause. It has done good in our midst. It has reclaimed some of our best citizens from the gutters, and kept some of them sober for six months, and others even for a longer time, but when one of the members of either of these good societies becomes so thoroughly temperance-sick as to arrogate to himself the power of reforming the world in the twinkling of an eye, brand the proprietors of a legiti-mate trade as thieves, cut throats and robbers, denounce the editor of a newspaper who, following his legitimate avocation of briefly referring to the advertisements and interests of his patrons engaged in a legitimate trade, as a "drunken bloater," then we say the author of such articles exhibits a blind fanaticism that will bring reproach upon the Temperance Order, and tend to lessen its influence in the eyes of all sound thinking, rational minded men.
As regards the suggestions gratuitously offered by this same author, as to the business management of our paper, in the name of our proprietors we return our most hearty thanks. Though our proprietors have conducted successfully three different newspapers, and have spent a life time in the business, yet they are not too old to learn, and doubtless suggestions in regard to the proper management of a daily newspaper, though it comes from the sixth number of a new Weekly will be of great service.
We again say for the good of the Temperance cause in our midst, that such articles, such sentiments, such fanaticisms, such foolishness, such nonsense, is calculated to destroy the Temperance Orders in this State, which are now, it is to be hoped doing much good. We have known several of these over zealous Temperance authors, and lecturers that filled drunkard's graves, in fact assisted in the burying of one that not only wrote such nonsense but for several years proclaimed it from the stand.

THE HIPPOCRINORRHOEA.—As the terrible horse malady that has so exci-tated the minds of the Northern people for the last week is spreading South, and the probability of its soon breaking out in our State, we publish with pleasure the following valuable suggestions handed us by Mr. S. J. Fall, one of our recent English settlers. Mr. Fall has seen much of this disease in England, and lost several valuable horses before he obtained the remedy he now kindly offers to the readers of the News:
CAPT. E. C. WOODSON, City Editor
Daily News:
SIR: Having noticed the accounts of the fearful disease now ravaging amongst the horses in the North, and having lost five horses myself from it, I thought perhaps the relation of my experience and observation might possibly be of some service, should it unfortunately reach as far as Raleigh or neighborhood.
Precisely the same disease first appeared in the locality in which I resided, in England, at the same period of the year in 1870. Its spread was peculiarly rapid, and scarce a stable within a large radius escaped, whilst its diagnosis and development being so entirely without precedent completely baffled the skill of the local veterinary surgeons.
The first thing noticeable was a sudden weakness manifesting itself whilst the horse was at work; then, in the course of an hour or so, their eyes and nostrils became affected precisely in the same way as in influenza; then, a hollow cough and in a few hours a great swelling of one, two and sometimes all the legs, from the thigh to the knee, affecting also the lower parts of the body, and likewise a great difficulty in taking any food or nourishment. In those which recovered, it seemed to run its course in about three weeks; but it was a long time before they regained their whole strength; and in this way the greater danger, as it put to work too soon, they relapsed, and either died at once, or the disease settled in some particular part or limb; for instance, I had a valuable one rising 6 years, a very heavy, and powerful draught horse, which seemed to get quite well, was sent to work, but in three days the disease returned and settled in one of its hind legs, and no remedy save could overcome it; he lived, eating heartily for five months, quite unable to work, and eventually dropped down from sheer weakness and never rallied.
At first the surgeons bled most freely, and the condition of the blood was to warrant it; but invariably, the blood bled died; seemingly from loss of strength and with mine, those only, which were not bled escaped; this was observed all round.
The following hints, deduced from my own observation, (though I should be sorry to place them in contradiction to the opinion of any veterinary surgeon) may be found to be useful: Let the stable be thoroughly ventilated, but kept thoroughly free from draught, and be well lime washed; cover the animal over as close as possible, with warm rugs, place straw in the stall, instead of saw dust if possible; but if not clean it out entirely every day, hang a bag of hot bran mash up to its nostrils twice a day, give it all the nourishing and stimulating food it can take; such as gruel, with eggs and a little wine best; well, as a draught, if it will not take it otherwise, and let it have a little gentle exercise in the sun once a day as soon as it can walk.
Immediately upon the appearance of the disease, let every horse be put into a stable as far off from others as possible; the best plan is to let it remain in its own, and remove all the rest, if this is practicable; and, remember, do not be in a hurry, at however great inconvenience and loss of time you may be placed, to put it to work too early.
Trusting however, that from its non-appearance in this district, my note will be valuable.
I am sir, yours &c.,
SAMUEL J. FALL.
Bloodworth Street,
Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 1st, 1872.
"HE DID NOT KNOW HOW."—At the late term of Granville Court, one Charner Towns, a gentleman of color, and lately a member of the Board of County Commissioners, was indicted for stealing tobacco. After mature consideration the jury brought in a verdict of guilty of receiving the tobacco, knowing it to be stolen. We are informed that after the rendition of the verdict, the defendant, commenting upon the conduct of Judge Watts, during the trial, remarked, "Well, the Judge did his best to 'clear' me, but he did not know how."
It is almost needless to add that his Honour, granted the convicted rogue a new trial.
LITHOGRAPHIC SKETCH.—We were shown yesterday morning, by Messrs.
Nichols & Gorman, job printers, &c., a lithographic sketch of the lands advertised for sale on the 25th inst., in this paper, which shows every section of the land, roads, branches, creeks and rivers contiguous thereto, its general location, &c., all of which was gotten up by this enterprising firm. It is a new mode of advertising, and its great value will hereafter adopt it to general use.
ANOTHER ROBESON COUNTY OUTLAW ARRESTED.—Gov. Caldwell received a telegraphic dispatch yesterday morning from Columbus, Ga., notifying him of the arrest, in that State, of the notorious George Applewhite, one of the Henry Berry Lowry gang of outlaws. A reward of six thousand dollars had been offered for his arrest by the Governor.
There are now only two remaining, for which a reward is offered, Andrew Strong and Stephen Lowry.
The Franklin Courier says the cotton trade is better in that county than it has been since the war.

THE WELDON FAIR.—The third annual Fair of the Roanoke and Tar River Agricultural Society has been held, and the exhibition and attendance has been most creditable and encouraging.
The crowd on Thursday is regarded as the largest ever seen on a fair ground in North Carolina, and it was fortunate that such extensive additions and improvements to the buildings and platforms had been made.
The annual address, delivered by the Hon. Kemp P. Battle, was a most admirable one, full of sound reasoning and useful suggestions, and was attentively listened to, highly appreciated by the immense crowd in which were some of the most skillful and successful farmers in the State.
The position of the speakers stand, though, compels most of its hearers to stand while listening to an address, but this inconvenience will probably be remedied by the erection of a rostrum at some more eligible point, and one which will enable the people to avail themselves of the very liberal arrangement of seats that has been made.
It is impossible in a communication of ordinary length to enumerate all or any great portion of the articles on exhibition. Prominent in the machinery department was a splendid portable engine from the Metropolitan Works at Richmond. It was a beautiful, and to its size, a powerful machine, as smooth in its working as a clock, and as noiseless, almost as the tread of a cat. The builders of it sometimes fill orders to be sent North.
Among the cotton presses was a very excellent one sent out by Messrs. Tapp & Lumsden, of Petersburg, as a prize for the farmer who exhibited the best bale of cotton. It was awarded to L.
B. Manning, Esq., a skillful and successful farmer from the Ringwood section of this county. Mr. Manning says the prize coming in good time, his old press beginning to be a little "worse for wear."
A simple and powerful apparatus for moving horses, patented and exhibited by a gentleman of Edgecombe; it must prove, especially in cities, a useful and convenient instrument in the business for which it is intended.
There were several sewing machines in the room appropriated to those instruments, and some of them were sewing through cigar-box boards, sole leather and thick plates of lead.
The display of agricultural implements was passably good, but there was a lack of cotton gins.
In Floral Hall we have seen a great number of articles, and a great many of them of great value.
The display of the internal results of the exhibition, introduced by Mr.
Nichols, was a very interesting one, and a description of the same, as far as it has been seen, and that our representatives have been able to use to the benefit of the people, is a splendid display of the power of the jewellers of Norfolk and Petersburg in rivalry displayed their splendid and costly wares.
The display of horses was unusually large and fine, the most of them being from this and the surrounding counties.
Much to the disappointment of the light fingered gentry, no species of gambling was allowed on the grounds, and the Fair, to that class, has been a perfect failure.
The best of order reigned throughout: indeed the police arrangements were such that there was no chance for any disturbance to begin.
The best of good feeling prevailed to the close of the exhibition, the parting salutation at the gate being "Good-bye till the next Fair!"
CHATHAM COUNTY.—Judge Mer-rison and Armistead Jones, Esq., returned yesterday from their Chatham circuit. They were well received by the good people of that county, and we learn that Mr. Jones acquitted himself very handsomely and made a fine impression. Judge Merrison is said to have made exceedingly able and stirring addresses. These gentlemen spoke at Egypt, Sanford and Merry Oaks. At the latter place they encountered Gen.
Willie D. Jones and J. H. Henden, the latter the Radical Elector for this District. We understand that Armistead Jones replied to Henden with telling effect and showed up that gentleman in his true colors.
Old Chatham is all right this time.

been changed from that day to Saturday

THE CAMPAIGN.—H. A. London, Jr., reached the city yesterday evening from Johnson county, where he has been conducting the campaign with telling effect. He spoke yesterday at City on, to a large audience. He will make only one more speech before the close of the campaign. Mr. London, as our elector, has performed his duty well and faithfully, and deserves the thanks of the party for the zeal and ability with which he has labored.
Pepper, of the "Green Front" on Hargett street, continues to administer drink to the thirsty and feed the hungry.
His saloon is in full blast, and with the aid of good cooks, attentive clerks, and polite waiters, sustains his well earned reputation as a restaurateur of rare merit.

CAMPAIGN NOTES.
The straightest Democrats in Indiana polled 130 votes, which is one thirtieth of one per cent. of the whole vote of the State. O'Connor struck the key note of the campaign for his party when he said "I am one in 40,000,000." When the anti-party party is out they will be one in a million, at least. But then, as their only ambition is to enact a sort of Pickwickian Thermopyle—that will be enough.

mour, making a speech the other day would do to elect Greeley, replied that if no other good was accomplished, it would insure a showing of the books, and that had been perpetrated by officials on the treasury, and the breaking up of the Rings that were robbing the government and the people.

THE EVE OF THE BATTLE.

Day after to-morrow the battle for Constitutional liberty is to be lost or won.

It is now too late to address calm arguments to the public.

If the people are not alarmed for their rights—if they have not yet waked up to the importance of the struggle—if they are still waiting to be convinced of their duty—if they are still folding their arms in fancied security, not heeding the dangers ahead—if they are still hesitating about the course that duty, and patriotism, and honor direct them to pursue, then it were folly to expect that appeals to their reason and their conscience can reach them at this late hour of the contest.

If they are not aroused already, what can we say that will arouse them?

If they see nothing in the Administration of President Grant for condemnation, what can we say now that will cause them to condemn it?

If they see nothing deserving of censure and denunciation in the conduct of the official thieves that have prospered under the Radical Administration, and ride in fine equipages at the public expense, what can we say that will excite public disgust and indignation?

If they see no wrong in a President whose shameless nepotism and gift-taking should call forth universal disapprobation, what can we say that will cause them to blush at the prostitution for personal ends of the highest office in the gift of the people?

If they see no danger to the principles of free government in the suspension of the writ of Habeas Corpus, what can we say that will awaken them to the peril?

If they see no wickedness in the carpet-bag rule and rule of the Southern States, what can we say that will cause them to loathe rascality and robbery?

If they see no outrage in the treatment of the South since the close of the war, what can we say that can excite their horror of political persecution and tyranny?

If they see no hardships in bayonet rule and military despotism, what can we say to enkindle in their souls a love of Constitutional liberty and popular freedom?

In a word, if they are not determined to vote down Radicalism, with all its crimes and corruptions, then argument will be vain, appeals will be unavailing and it will be useless for us to beg, beseech and implore them, in this hour of the nation's great crisis, to save the country from disgrace and ruin.

Oh! the time may come when those who are apathetic in this struggle will heartily regret their criminal indifference!

When the chains are riveted more tightly around us—when the flesh quivers under the rod of persecution—when every safeguard of personal liberty is overthrown—when the horrors of a worse than Spanish inquisition are realized under a government that claims to be Republican in form—when Imperialism shall triumph over the prostrate body of the Constitution—when Radicalism shall riot, unchecked and uncontrolled, amid the agonies of a withered and blasted country, it will then be too late to indulge in vain self-reproaches, and to lament over the sin and shame of our past misconduct and disgraceful dereliction of duty.

We are on the eve of one of the most important national combats the world has ever witnessed. American institutions are in danger. The citadel of the Constitution is threatened with overthrow. The most sacred rights of property and of person are imperiled. The opposing forces are drawn up in line, ready for the fray. A few hours will tell the tale. The destiny of the whole American people is trembling in the balance! Now is the very crisis of our fate!

North Carolinians, are you ready? Are you standing solidly in line? Are you marshaled in serried ranks—with hearts full of solicitude for the success of the great cause of right and liberty? We are on the eve of the great battle! The enemy is entrenched before us. His position is strong—his battalions numerous and well disciplined—his generals skillful and unscrupulous. Are you ready to march upon his works and storm, with heroic bravery, his strong fortifications? They can be carried at the point of the ballot, if the friends of constitutional liberty will push forward, in united columns and with undaunted hearts, to the polls on Tuesday.

WHO SHOULD VOTE FOR GREELEY.

Every Democrat and Liberal Republican in North Carolina.

Every man who is in favor of an honest administration of the affairs of the government.

Every man who desires to see corrupt officials turned out of office, and their places supplied by honest, intelligent men.

Every man who is in favor of civil service reform and economical government.

Every man who desires to see the country peaceful, prosperous and happy.

Every man who is anxious for the restoration of kind feelings between the North and South.

Every man who is opposed to the carpet-bag reconstruction, by which the South has been plundered and utterly impoverished.

Every man who wishes to see the civil law paramount to the military power.

Every man who would preserve the great rights of trial by jury and the writ of Habeas Corpus.

Every man who is in favor of maintaining the freedom of the press and of speech.

Every man who loves his country—who hates Radicalism—who despises fraud and political villainy—who is opposed to the oppression of the South—who cannot endorse President Grant's Administration.

DON'T STAY AT HOME ON ELECTION DAY.

Be sure to vote on Tuesday! See that your neighbors all go to the polls.

One Township may decide the vote of the State.

In the recent election in Indiana, one of the candidates for Congress for the State at large, was defeated by only one hundred and sixty two votes out of a poll of over three hundred thousand.

Every vote is important! Not only vote yourself, but see that your neighbors vote also.

Some are old and infirm, see that they have conveyances to take them to the election.

But whatever you do, don't stay away yourself. Be sure to go and vote.

Do your duty. Strive to make others do theirs. At all events, vote yourself.

A THIN VOTE.

From present indications, we should judge that the vote of both parties will fall off considerably in the November election.

The canvass in this State has not been thorough nor exciting. There seems to be no enthusiasm on either side.

Our public speakers have not labored with their usual activity and zeal. The people have not been aroused by large meetings, and with rare exceptions our leading public men have not taken that interest in the cause which they should have done.

A full vote of our party is all that is necessary to secure the State.

Will a full vote be given? Tuesday will decide.

WE INTENDED to give some extracts from our editorial columns, this morning, from Gov. Vance's admirable address at Wake Forest College, but have concluded that we would postpone doing so until after the election.

As the horse malady will in all probability extend to this State in a few days, we publish elsewhere the manner in which it is treated in the U. S. Army, under instructions from the Quarter Master General.

GREELEY is with us now. What matters it what he has been? He is pleading for our political deliverance. He favors the enfranchisement of every white man in the South. He is our nominee! Our pledge is given—we must support him!

Do you want to turn out the official thieves and Deputy Marshals that have proved such a curse to the land?

THEN VOTE FOR GREELEY NEXT TUESDAY.

LET US PROTEST against the crimes of Grant's Administration by going to the polls on Tuesday, and voting against his reelection.

VOTE AGAINST GRANT TUESDAY.

JUDGE RUSSELL'S CHARGE.

Our readers have been kept advised of the progress of the attempt to indict Maj. J. A. Engelhard and Col. W. L. Saunders for libel, in publishing an editorial in their paper, the Wilmington Journal, calling Judge H. L. Bond, of the U. S. Circuit Court, a scoundrel.

The Grand Jury returned the bill first drawn up by Solicitor Cantwell, "not a true bill," whereupon the Solicitor prayed for special instructions from Judge Russell, to the effect that to call any high dignitary or judicial officer, for example a Judge of the Circuit Court of the United States, a scoundrel, "even though the idea that the Judge could thereby be injuriously affected was preposterous and absurd, was a libel."

As a part of the history of the times, we publish Judge Russell's special instructions, as reported for the Wilmington Journal:

His Honor said to the jury that he had been requested by the counsel for the State to give them a special charge as to cases of criminal libel, and more especially as to what constitutes a libel that will subject the party to indictment as distinguished from that only actionable at the instance of a private party. A man is entitled to bring an action for libel or slander; but in only three cases is he entitled to recover without showing to the jury that his character has been actually damaged.

1st. Where crime is imputed and, as a general rule, not only crime but felony.

2nd. Where a party is charged with having a contagious or infectious disease or malady, when such a publication tends to exclude him from the enjoyment of his rights in society.

3rd. Where words are spoken or published regarding the profession or calling of the party, tending to injure him in his business.

In these cases the jury had only to be satisfied with the proof to entitle him to recover. These cases are not restricted to words printed, but apply also to words spoken, or slander. Libel is nothing more than written or printed slander. But as to criminal libel, the rule is that a man cannot be indicted for words spoken—they must be written or printed.

But the law does not restrict the State to those cases that are actionable per se. All actions, all words, written or otherwise which are actionable per se, are also indictable criminally in every case where a man may be able to recover specially.

The law goes further as applied to cases not actionable per se. A man publishes you a thief; you bring an action, show the publication and are entitled to recover. It is actionable both criminally and civilly. He calls you a rogue, then the action is not civil and you cannot recover damages; for a libel is a false statement of fact which can be shown to you damaged; for a libel is a false statement of fact which can be shown to you damaged; for a libel is a false statement of fact which can be shown to you damaged.

libel" Friday evening, and no farther action was taken.

Wonder if the Judge won't send them all to jail? Oh, the rarity of Radical Judicial charity!

DO YOU SANCTION GRANTISM?

If you sanction Grantism, then stay at home next Tuesday, or go to the polls and vote for Grant.

If you sanction the suspension of Habeas Corpus, then go to the polls and vote for Grant, or stay at home, and let North Carolina go Radical.

If you endorse corruption, fraud and official robbery, then vote for Grant, or stay at home and let the election go by default.

If you are opposed to reconciliation between the North and South, then vote for Grant, or stay at home and let him be elected.

If you wish to endorse all the odious acts of Grant's Administration during the past four years, then either vote for his reelection, or what is equivalent, stay at home next Tuesday and thus give the State to Grant and the the Radicals.

BE ON YOUR GUARD.

The Radicals are circulating O'Connor tickets all over the State, to catch disaffected Democrats.

Do not be deceived by such tricks. The O'Connor tickets were printed by the Radicals in this city, and are intended to benefit Grant.

Be on your guard, Democrats, on election day, and expose this Radical fraud.

Every good Democrat will stand by party organization, and vote for the regular nominees of the National Democratic party—Greeley and Brown.

MORE OF THE STRAIGHT-OUT FRAUD.

We are authorized by Ham Long, Esq. of Chatham, whose name appears on the Straight Out ticket as Elector for the Fourth District, to say that it was done without his knowledge or consent, that he does not approve of the movement, but that he is in favor of Greeley and Brown.

THE ELECTION of Greeley means peace and honest government, and magnanimity to the South—the election of Grant means continued aggression on the Constitution and the renewal of the sectional feuds, which have disturbed the harmony of the nation.

W. L. PENDLETON, the great principle of the West, says in W. L. PENDLETON'S PRINCIPLE OF RIO COFFE.

LAGUIRE COFFE, a vote for re-election, a vote for Grant.

OLD for the endorsement of official corruption, and malfeasance in office.

GREELEY COMES holding out the olive branch—Grant comes with the sword and the bayonet.

GREELEY AND Reformation—Grant and misgovernment—which will you choose?

IT IS HIGHLY important that every Democratic vote in North Carolina be cast for Greeley and Brown next Tuesday.

SAVE NORTH CAROLINA FROM THE DISGRACE OF A RADICAL TRIUMPH ON TUESDAY.

WILL THE STAY-at-home party defeat Greeley next Tuesday, by allowing the election to go by default?

HORACE GREELEY, if elected, will lift the bayonets from the throats of the Southern people.

THE VOTE of North Carolina next Tuesday may save Greeley's election.

YOU HAVE but one choice—Greeley or Grant.

LET THERE be no shirking on election day.

A PROCLAMATION.

By His Excellency, the Governor of North Carolina.
